Receiving Station for further assignment.

Tuttle's station, commanded by Capt. V. A. Blandin, USN, is an intermediate Navy Activity which temporarily receives, shelters, and provides for personnel reporting in for transfer to ships or shore stations in all parts of the world, or for separation at the end of their enlistment.

Tuttle is one of an average of 6,000 Navy men who pass through the Receiving Station each month.

Army Pvt. Ronald D. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosewell D. Lane, 3509 W. 185th St., Torrance, Calif., recently completed eight weeks of military police training at The Provost

RONALD D. LANE
... completes training

Marshal General's School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Lane received instruction in self defense, traffic control and the basic procedures of civil and military law.

He entered the Army last March and completed basic training at Fort Ord. The 19-year old soldier is a 1960 graduate of North High School and was employed by Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac Assembly, Division of General Motors in South Gate before entering the Army.

Scheduled to help Seattle, Wash., celebrate its annual Sea Fair Aug. 3, while serving aboard the seaplane tender USS Pine Island, are Lawrence C. Quignon, fire control technician second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Quignon of 1642 W. 216th St., and Dennis M. McLaughlin, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Dorsey, 1543 204th St., all of Torrance.

The Pine Island is one of 14 First Fleet ships set to steam in formation past the Seattle shoreline before being welcomed by civic and fair officials upon mooring at the Naval Supply Depot, Seattle.

Parades, dances, parties and speed boat races are scheduled to be included in the city's four-day welcome to the visiting bluejackets. In return the First Fleet ships will be open to visitors.

IN SERVICE

Army Pvt. Russell B. Liken, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Liken Jr., 2720 W. 176th St., Torrance, recently was assigned to the eighth Infantry Division in Germany.

Liken is a member of Headquarters Battery in the division's 28th Artillery in Baumholder. He entered the Army last January and completed basic training at Fort Ord.

The 19-year-old soldier attended North High School. Before entering the Army, Liken was employed by R and B Furniture.

Participating in Exercise "Tail Wind," involving aircraft and 21 Navy ships off the coast of California while serving aboard the ocean minesweeper USS Constant was Donald S. Morrison, damage controlman first class USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield S. Morrison of 21006 Vallrie St., Torrance.

The five-day exercise from July 24 to 28 featured an attack aircraft carrier, four cruisers, destroyers and replenishment ships in a fast carrier striking force maneuver opposing shore-based patrol planes, medium jet bombers and submarines.

Included in the exercise was a full scale replenishment of the task force at sea by fleet oilers, ammunition and store ships.

Vice Admiral Charles L. Melson, commander of the U. S. First Fleet, scheduled "Tail Wind" and participated in it from his flagship, the heavy cruiser USS Helena. Rear Admiral Charles T. Booth II, commander of Carrier Division Five, conducted the exercise from the aircraft carrier USS Ranger.

Scheduled to be graduated from the Electrician's Mate School, Aug. 15, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., is David K. Dennis, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hurshel Dennis of 2320 W. 247th St., Lomita.

The 14-week course of instruction trains bluejackets to maintain and operate motors, generators, switchboards, batteries and searchlights.

Serving aboard the attack transport USS Paul Revere, operating in the Western Pacific, is Ronald A. Youngker, hospitalman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Youngker of 150 W. 226th St., Torrance.

Since last November, the ship has steamed over 35,000 miles with Amphibious Squadron Five, a unit of the famed Seventh Fleet, and is slated to return to its home port of San Diego, Calif., in late August.

Colin C. Carnegie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Carnegie of 4114 W. 175th St., Torrance, is serving as a guided missileman aboard the USS Providence, a missile cruiser.

Decorative Trees Highlight Garden

You can look long and hard before finding three more decorative trees than the Olive, the Pepper and the Weeping Willow. They have in common a lacy texture in their foliage and habits of growth that, while different, are alike in being beautiful.

The trio of trees are especially suited to small or medium gardens in general and to California gardens in particular.

The Olive has long been a favorite with members of the California Association of Nurserymen, and it is interesting to note how professional landscapers are turning to it more and more. You see it with increasing frequency around new public buildings and as a terrace or patio centerpiece. This takes one back to early California when the Olive was a familiar foreground to Spanish architectural style.

The gray-green Olive is at its very best in full sun and thrives with a minimum of moisture. Undernourishment suits it better than otherwise, so plant it and forget it.

Pepper trees are familiar sights—especially in Southern California, where they once enjoyed frequent use in street and roadway plantings. Their true beauty, however, lies in an individual specimen where the lacy, pendulous branches, knobby trunks and rose-colored berries (similar to pepper corns) can be appreciated. Pepper trees are strictly resistant to drought but do not resent normal watering.

WEeping Willow

Last of our trio, the Weeping Willow, is similar to a Pepper Tree in its pendulous habit, but unlike either Olive or Pepper is the impression it gives the gardener. If an Olive seems made for dry places and Pepper looks at home in either drought or moisture, Weeping Willow is definitely enhanced by proximity to water.

Weeping Willow planted beside a garden pool, or in the middle of a well-watered lawn, is the picture of cool contentment. It is a lovely tree under any conditions, but prize-winner for sure when water is always at hand.
